ACTIVITY 1B HANDOUT

Want Ad for a Good Friend

Have you ever seen a want ad in the newspaper or online? Sometimes people who are looking to adopt a pet write an advertisement describing the type of pet they are hoping to find. Other times, adults write want ads if they want to buy a new piece of furniture or hire someone for a job. Pretend that you are trying to make a new friend. Create an advertisement that describes a friend you would like to find. What personality traits are you looking for in a good friend? What kind of person do you think would make a great friend? Are there any activities that you would like to share with this new friend? If you spend a lot of time rollerblading, you might want a friend to share this activity with you. Think about all the things you need in a good friend. Today you will be writing a want ad for a friend. Your want ad should contain the following information:

- 3 Qualities of a Good Friend that you are looking for
- 3 Personal Qualities that you bring to the table
- 2 Activities you like to do
- An appropriate Picture to catch the reader's eye
